Terms, Conditions & Licence of use.

Your purchase allows you, or any members of your household to use this digital stamp as specified in the terms below. The digital stamp is intended for personal use, but we created a special ”limited commercial licence” for people like hobbyists, crafters, and amateur artists who would like to sell some of their creations in a non-professional capacity and environment. This licence is not part of your purchase but is granted free of charge subject to the following terms and conditions.

LIMITED COMMERCIAL LICENCE (Right to sell):

A limited commercial licence will be granted to you at no additional cost if you agree and adhere to all the terms and condition specified below. This licence is non-transferable and non-exclusive and does not include any rights other than those specified in this document. If you fail to adhere to any of these terms at any time this licence (and any other licences granted by us) will permanently revert to a ‘personal use only’ licence with immediate effect.

This licence allows you to sell items that you created with this stamp in small quantities directly to the public. These must all be physical items and must be sold in a physical and non-corporate location or venue like a market, fair, or festival where you are personally present (for example, selling greeting cards that you made at a local craft market). You may also sell them in ONE independent shop provided that you either work there or that you, or a direct family member, owns the shop. This licence only grants you the right to sell directly to the end user - you may not supply or sell any of these items (either directly or indirectly) to any retailers, outlets, or shops in any way whatsoever.

All the items that you intend to sell must either be made by you, or by a direct family member. You may not use any form of professional printing or manufacturing services and you may not make use (or offer) on-demand printing services in any way. You may sell up to 3 different products that features the stamp at a time, and you may produce up to 10 of each of these items at a time – this means you can have a maximum stock of 30 products in total if you have 3 different items).

Please note that this licence does not allow any item that was created with this stamp to be sold online (either directly or indirectly) and it does not include the right to sell any digital items in any way whatsoever.

Any item that you intend to sell should always credit us as the original artist of the artwork (e.g. Original artwork by The Picsees) AND include a copyright notice (e.g. © copyright thepicsees.com) on the physical item itself. You may not sell any item that features our artwork, or any likeness created from or inspired by it, without including this on the item. It doesn’t have to be prominent and can be at the back or the bottom of an item provided that it can easily be found, and it must always be clear and legible.

We have included a selection of credit stamps (JPG FILES/Credits & Copyright – and – PGN FILES/Credits & Copyright) with a few variations for you to use. If none of these variants fits on or with your item, you may use a clear and legible font (e.g. Arial or Helvetica) instead.

No action is needed to make use of this licence, as long as you've read all the terms in this document (including the general terms below) and adhere to them at all times, you may make use of it. You do not have to pay any licencing or sellers fee, commissions or share any profits made when making use of this licence, but if you believe that it is earned, a donation (via: www.thepicsees.com/support) would always be appreciated.

GENERAL TERMS & CONDITIONS:

(applicable to both the commercial licence and personal use)

DO NOT SELL OR REDISTRIBUTE THE DIGITAL FILES.

None of the files included with your download may be redistributed or resold (either online or offline) in any way whatsoever.

Your purchase only allows for you and members of your household to use these files. We try to price all our downloads in such a way that everyone who would like to use them can afford to purchase a copy of their own (if you or someone you know are unable to afford these please get in touch and we'll do our best to find a solution for you). It is therefore not allowed to share or redistribute these files in any way including (but not limited to) sending them to anyone outside of your household via email or instant messaging apps (e.g. WhatsApp), sharing them on any websites or social media platforms (e.g. forums or groups) and posting or uploading them anywhere online.

PS – this does not apply when sharing pictures or photos of items you created online – please refer to the section below titled 'SHARING YOUR WORK ONLINE' for more details about this.

DO NOT USE IT WITH OR NEAR ANYTHING OFFENSIVE.

The stamp, the artwork featured on it, and any likeness created from or inspired by it, may not be used or displayed with or near anything that may be regarded as explicit, offensive, hateful, political, discriminatory, unlawful or in any way inappropriate to all age groups.

CREDIT AND OWNERSHIP.

You may not claim or suggest (either directly or indirectly) to have created or to own the image/artwork (or any likeness created from or inspired by it) in any way – and you should always credit "the Picsees" as the original artist in any scenario where this might be unclear.
You may also not claim or suggest (either directly or indirectly) that anything you create using this stamp was a collaboration between The Picsees and yourself – or that you commissioned the artwork or stamp - or that you have exclusive rights to it in any way.

Some of the stamps includes our signature and/or the words ‘the Picsees’ on the artwork – this may not be removed or obscured in any way.

Please note: whenever you make a physical item that you plan to sell (as per our limited commercial licence) you are required to credit us and include a copyright notice on the physical item – please refer to the LIMITED COMMERCIAL LICENCE above for details about this.

SHARING YOUR WORK ONLINE.

You may share pictures and/or videos of your personal projects and things you created with the stamp on your personal website, personal blog, personal video channel or personal social media pages as long as you always clearly credit "the Picsees" as the original artist (e.g. original artwork by The Picsees) AND either tag us or include a link to our website (www.thepicsees.com).

MISCELLANEOUS.

The stamp, the artwork, or any likeness created from or inspired by it may not be included in any publication, both online and offline (including but not limited to books, magazines, or catalogues) and may also not be used in or for any marketing material (including but not limited to flyers, business cards, or online adds) in any way without our prior written consent.
No part of it may be used for graphic design jobs or projects (including but not limited to logos, website designs, signage etc).
It may also not be included with (or presented as) stock art, clip art or tattoo flash.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY & COPYRIGHT.

The stamp, the artwork, or any likeness created from or inspired by it (including but not limited to characters and quotes) remains our sole intellectual property and is copyright by the Picsees. No rights other than those specified above are granted to you or included with the sale of these digital downloads.

We reserve the right to update these terms and condition from time to time without prior notice. All permissions granted will be subject to the most recent version of these terms and conditions (which can always be found by visiting: www.thepicsees.com/terms. If we believe that you, or anyone directly connected to you, might be misusing these files, might be misusing our or any other artist's intellectual property, are being dishonest, deceptive, abusive, threatening or intimidating in any way, or are in breach of any of these terms and conditions, any and all rights granted to you may be retracted. This will be at our discretion and no refunds or compensation (including legal fees) will be due by us should this occur.
